Be Sure Your Online CPR Program Is The Real Deal.

There are some excellent online CPR certification programs out there. But a few claim to hold a national accreditation they don't have—because there is in fact no such thing as national-level accreditation for CPR programs.

Some online CPR programs go so far as to claim certification from false or illegitimate accreditors such as the National Board of Emergency Care Certifications.

There may be no nationwide CPR program accreditor. But there is a medically-accepted standard: the American Heart Association (AHA) guidelines for CPR instruction. All of our programs comply strictly with these guidelines. And our curriculums are developed only by AHA-certified CPR instructors.

With other online CPR programs, you never know what you're getting. With us, you can be sure: outstanding instruction, convenient online access, and a card your employer will accept—guaranteed.

Curriculums Developed By an AHA-Licensed Instructor.

Meet Dr. Mary Williams, R.N., D.C.—the expert behind our curriculums. She's a Doctor of Chiropractic with an extensive background as a Registered Nurse and experienced Core Instructor for the American Heart Association.

We're the only online CPR certification company with curriculums developed by an AHA-licensed CPR instructor—and the only company specially licensed to offer online instruction.

Dr. Williams holds a Director of Staff Development certification from the State of California—a qualification that requires a minimum of 4,000 hours of clinical practice.

So you can be sure our curriculums are based on real, hands-on medical and instructional experience.
